DAILY REPORT - PERIOD MAY 15, 2025
DATE	5/15/2025	Mr. Kai showed good progress in producing the /ch/ sound, especially at the beginning of words like "chair" and "chicken." While there were occasional errors, such as substituting /ch/ with /sh/ in final positions (e.g., "beach"), he responded well to correction and repeated words with improved clarity. His fluency and rhythm during dialogue reading were generally smooth, though some intonation patterns, particularly in questions, need further development. He remained focused and engaged throughout the session, demonstrating a positive attitude and willingness to learn. Continued practice with minimal pairs and listening to natural speech will help reinforce his pronunciation accuracy and confidence.

WEEKLY REPORT
PERIOD (MAY 26-30, 2025)
TEACHER MIRIAM	Mr. Kai demonstrated a strong understanding of the phonetic distinctions between /r/ and //, contributing vocabulary words with single and double "r" spellings. His active participation and insightful contributions significantly aided his comprehension and overall class understanding of this linguistic concept. He practiced differentiating short and long vowel sounds, focusing on word pairs like sheep-ship, seat-sit, and heel-hill. His pronunciation improved significantly, and he consistently participated enthusiastically, readily pronouncing even difficult or unusual words. His punctuality and continuous improvement in reading speed, intonation, and punctuation were commendable.
TEACHER TRIXIE	Tsai Wei consistently shows dedication and commitment to vocabulary lessons, demonstrating good retention and active participation. He listens attentively, asks insightful questions, and completes exercises with care. His eagerness to understand each word deeply is commendable, and his commitment to improving his vocabulary is evident in his continuous learning and ability to use new vocabulary in different contexts. His participation and consistent effort are impressive, showcasing his strong work ethic and dedication to vocabulary development.
TEACHER	Mr. Khai improved his vocabulary and spelling through dictation tasks. despite challenges. He remained focused, determined, and

SPEAKING

Minki's last day at Talk Academy. She had been an exceptional and engaged student throughout her time there. Minki was always active in class, eagerly participating in discussions and activities. She consistently contributed insightful ideas that enriched the learning environment.

LISTENING

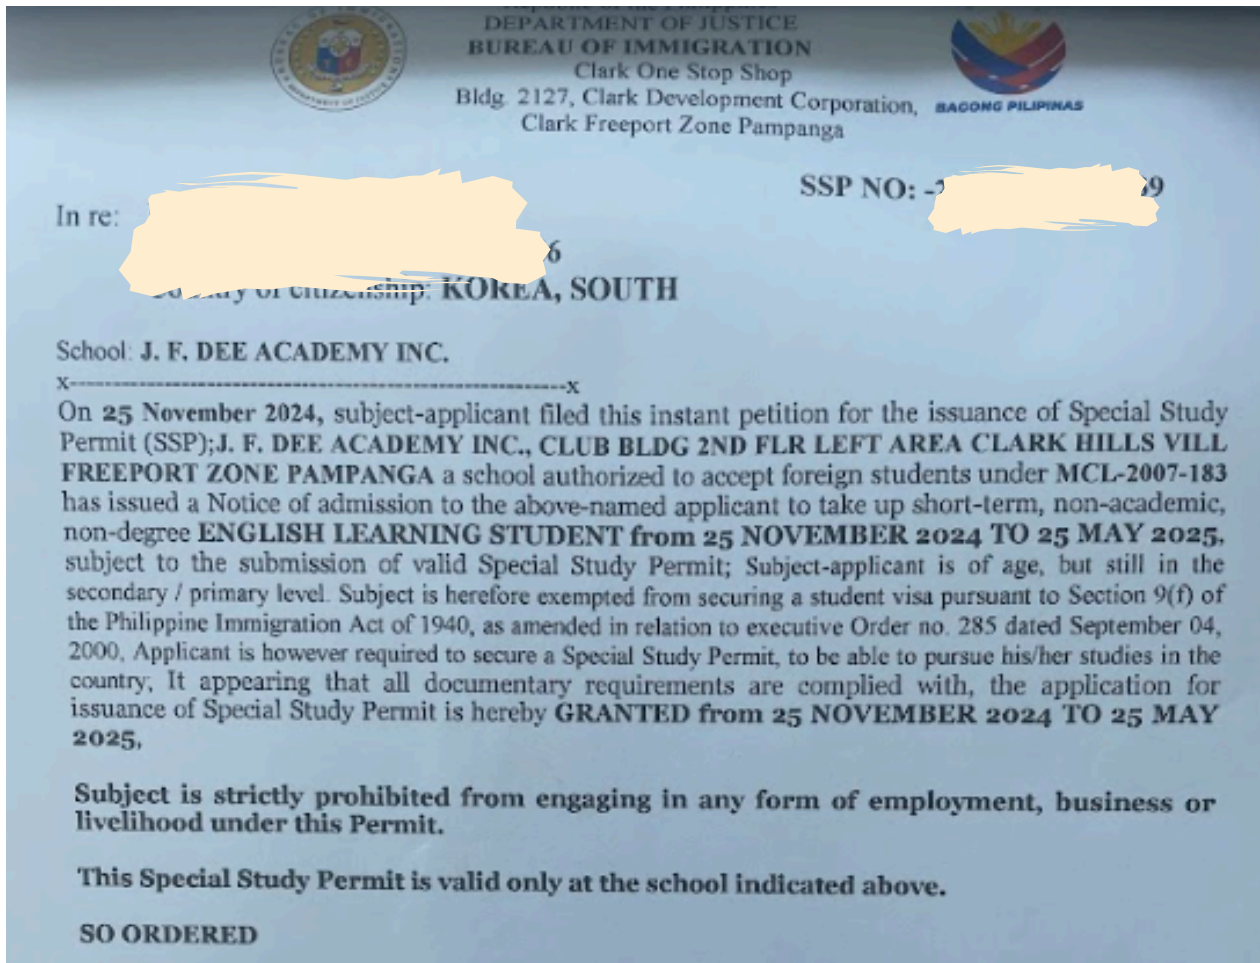

Great job on your listening practice! Your focus and effort show true dedication to improving your skills. Remember that every time you listen, you're building confidence and understanding. Keep up the excellent work!

GRAMMAR

Minki is such a smart and kind student. He performed really well throughout our teaching and learning process. One thing I would recommend is that she continues to apply his excellent writing skills in real-life situations. Additionally, he could benefit from practicing speaking more, even in casual conversations, to further improve her speaking skills. Keep up the great work!
