A Genuine Student is considered a genuine temporary entrant to Australia for the purpose of study as defined by the Department of Home Affairs.

- Meet Attendance course requirements - minimum of 80% timetabled classes.
- Making satisfactory progress toward completing the course

Government Concerns:

- Growth in the sector needs to be promoted through integrity and quality, and students and graduates need to be better supported to realize their economic potential in the labor market.
- Integrity measures” to improve standards in the sector for both providers and students, while reportedly making sure graduates “do not become ‘permanently temporary’

Albright examples of Non-Genuine Students

- Students who do not commence studies
- Students who do not attend classes;
4 Days per week ELICOS

- Students who take study breaks during ELICOS courses, displaying no course progression, and breaking COE's.
