

Langports Update: Self-Cater Homestay Change & Queensland Export Awards Recognition

Dear Partners,

In this newsletter, you will find two important updates from Langports:

- a change to our Self-Cater Homestay
- an exciting news about our recognition as a finalist in the Queensland Export Awards

Self-Cater Homestay Update

To better meet the changing needs and preferences of our homestay program, Langports' Self-Cater Hosts will no longer provide meals for students staying in our Self-Cater Homestay option (they previously provided breakfasts only).

This change will be made for all future bookings from 12th October 2026.

As the name suggests, students in Self-Cater Homestays are responsible for purchasing and preparing their own meals. This option continues to be a popular choice for students seeking greater independence, flexibility, and the opportunity to manage their own daily routines while enjoying the support and cultural experience of living with a local host.

Self-Cater Homestay includes:

- Own bedroom
- Shared bathroom
- Stay with a local host
- Use of kitchen for meals

Please update any relevant information and advise prospective students accordingly when discussing accommodation options.

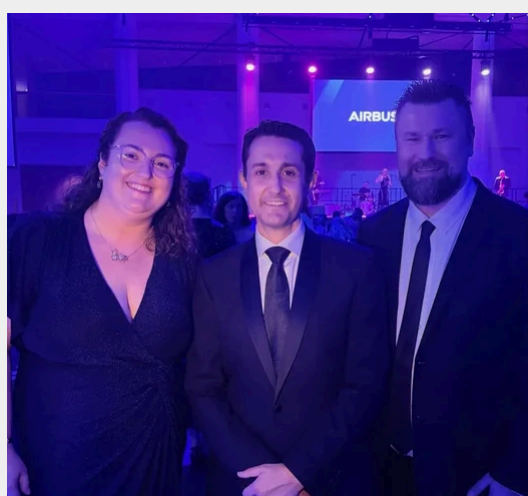

Queensland Export Awards Recognition

We are proud to share that Langports was a finalist in the Queensland Export Awards this year.

While another exceptional organisation took home the award, we left the event feeling incredibly proud of this achievement. Being recognised alongside some of Queensland's most successful export businesses is an honour and a testament to the dedication of our team and partners.

During the event, Queensland Premier David Crisafulli congratulated Langports on our previous award win and acknowledged the continued success of our business.

It was a wonderful reminder of how far we have come and the positive impact we continue to make in international education.

These achievements would not be possible without the support of our valued agent partners. Thank you for your ongoing trust, collaboration, and commitment to helping students from around the world achieve their English language goals with Langports.

We look forward to continuing our successful partnership and welcoming many more students together.
